SERMON FOR FOURTH SUNDAY OF EASTER

Listen to this touching speech the father of the bride spoke to his future son-in-law as he gave away his daughter in marriage:

Phillip, I want to tell you a story.

Once upon a time there was a father, and in case you can't figure that out, that's me.

This father had a wonderful little boy. He was very happy.

Then one day he found out his wife was going to have another baby.

So I prayed, "Lord if it is your will, make her a little girl. And He did.

I was the first person to hold her in my arms.

And I looked at her and said, "Lord make her like her mother." And He did.

She was loving and giving and so good and kind.

But then I realized I was getting left out.

So I said, "Lord make her also like me." And He did.

She could drive a truck and a tractor. She could load hay and chew tobacco.

Do you realize what you're getting?

But at the same time she was opinionated, emotional and hard-headed.

So I said, "Lord that's enough of that. Make her like You." And He did.

He gave her the desire to serve people. She loves people.

She gave her life to being a nurse. She's brought people back from the dead.

And she's held the hands of people who breathed their last breath.

He gave her a heart for mission work. She's trekked all over the world.

Pushing canoes up swollen rivers. She's laid on the floor as bullets whizzed by.

All this so she can tell people about Jesus.

But still something was missing. So I said, "Lord make her happy."

And she met you.

You see that look on her face? I never saw that till she met you.

And I'm grateful for that.

Today I'm giving you the best possession I have to give.

And I just wanted you to know before I do that how hard me, her mother and God worked to get her ready.

So Phillip I give her to you.

And I don't think you will mind if I give you one more word of advice.

Me and God worked hard.

Don't screw it up.

The father hugged his daughter and son-in-law as they both laughed and cried in each other's arms.

And the wedding began.

Just like this father handed over his beloved daughter in marriage, God the Father has handed over all his children, you and me, to Jesus. The Father and Jesus worked really hard to make this happen. The Father created us. But His children screwed up. Our ancestors brought sin to the world. And we sin, too. So the Father handed over Jesus and Jesus got us back. Jesus put us back into the Father's hands. The Father and Jesus have a very tight grip. God will never lose you. God will never let you go. Nothing can take you out of his hand. So when troubles come your way, or you feel lost, or you are worried, or losing hope, hand it over to Jesus. Hold onto Jesus. Grip Him tight. Never let Him go. Jesus has a handle on it all...
